Mid East Is Seen As Test

Dulles Says Reds Will Take All Risks To Win Struggle; Repeats Ike Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the Middle East may present "the decisive test in the struggle between communism and freedom."

And he said, Communist leaders "will take every risk they dare to take" to win.

"I do not say that this is the last test, although it could well be the decisive test," Dulles told a joint session of the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees.

"When the stakes are so great," he continued, "I do not believe the Congress of the United States should play, or wants to play, merely the role of an observer. It possesses assets, perhaps decisive assets, to throw into the struggle."

Dulles was before the senators, at an open hearing, to seek support for the administration's request for standby authority for President Eisenhower to use troops to counter any Soviet aggression in the Middle East.

Eisenhower also seeks authority for economic and military support for free nations in that area.

Last week, in testimony to the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Dulles said the Middle East "is very likely to be lost" unless Congress gives the administration swiftly the special powers it has asked.

President Eisenhower wants standby authority to use U. S. armed forces to help any Middle East nation which asks such American aid against overt Communist aggression. He also has asked for authority for special military and economic assistance.

Varied congressional reaction points to possibly extensive debate in the House and, particularly, the Senate after their committees finish work on the proposed Middle East resolution. The House committee has scheduled another week of hearings. The Senate committee hearings may last two weeks or more.

But Dulles, in his secret testimony before the House group last week, said it would be "very regrettable" if the resolution does not get through Congress by the end of this month.

He said "it is our definite belief that this area is very likely to be lost" unless the United States moves in quickly with help for nations there.

"And if it is lost," he said, "it will be the greatest victory that the Soviet Communists could ever have gained because if they get this area they in effect will have gotten Western Europe without a war."

Says House Committee Should End Secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Jensen (R-Iowa) said today the House Appropriations Committee should end its traditional practice of holding hearings in secrecy, except where matters of national security are involved.

"Maybe this would save the taxpayers some money," he said in an interview. He said he would propose such open hearings to the committee this week, but he conceded there was slight chance his idea would be adopted.

"If the hearings were open some people might be a little bashful about asking for appropriations," he said.

Group Wants Resignation—Missouri Republicans Feud; Bromwich Decides to Stay

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Feuding Missouri Republicans were embroiled in a political tangle today as Elroy W. Bromwich, national committeeman, stuck by his guns on a decision not to resign.

Saturday in Jefferson City, the board of advisors of the Missouri Young Republicans Federation recommended resignations from Bromwich, State GOP chairman Perry Compton, and National Committeewoman Mrs. Horace Hedges.

Compton, reached at his home in Montgomery City, said he would be willing to resign if Bromwich and Mrs. Hedges would do likewise.

Bromwich, a St. Louis industrialist, said Saturday he never heard of the board of advisors, and added that the Missouri Young Republican Federation was "very inactive."

Bromwich declared "I intend to serve out my term."

Mrs. Hedges' position was not known. William E. Ryan, state chairman of the Missouri Young Republicans, said the advisory board asked for the resignations so the Missouri GOP could be "reorganized under the Eisenhower principles."

Ryan said the fact that the President failed to carry Missouri in the November election despite a national sweep "necessitates an immediate and complete change in our state leadership."

The board asked that if Bromwich, who supported Harold Stassen's "dump-Nixon" campaign at the Republican convention in San Francisco, refused to resign he should not be recognized by the White House and the national committee as the state's national committeeman.

If Compton fails to resign, the board asked that the Republican

State Committee call an emergency meeting to replace him. The board said a change in party leadership should be made before the annual Lincoln Day meetings Feb. 9 in Kansas City.

Miller's Body Is Recovered From River

Sunday at 2:30 p.m. the body of Leon Clyde Miller, 57, salesman of Sedalia who resided at 1408 West Tenth, was recovered from icy waters of the Missouri River at Miami after his disappearance Friday morning at the toll bridge there dividing Carroll and Saline Counties.

Searchers, including a considerable number of Sedalians, county officers of the two counties mentioned, members of the Missouri Highway Patrol and others spent part of Friday, Saturday and the greater portion of Sunday in an endeavor to locate the body. The body was taken to Carrollton, where J. O. Cochran, Jr., coroner of Carroll County, after an inquiry attributed death as being accidental.

The body was in water between six and eight feet deep. It had fallen through ice in a slough, or backwater, of the river, on the Carroll County side, Sheriff Paul Piper of Marshall, and Sheriff Alex Goodson, Jr., of Carrollton, with deputies from their offices, members of the State Highway Patrol, employees of the Massman Construction Co., and Miami residents assisted in recovering the body.

Temperature Drops to Zero—

James T. Blair Is Inaugurated Governor While Colonels Shiver

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Colorful inaugural ceremonies put James T. Blair Jr. in office today as Missouri's 45th governor on the coldest day of the winter.

There was warmth and excitement in the Capitol Rotunda where Democrat Blair took over the chief executive's job from Democrat Phil M. Donnelly.

Outside the temperature hit zero and many of the more than 500 honorary colonels shivered in the frigid air. There were light clouds overhead but there was little wind to add to the discomfort caused by the low temperatures.

For the 54-year-old Blair, today's ceremony meant the achievement of a lifetime ambition. He has wanted to be governor ever since he played around the executive mansion as a boy son of a Supreme Court judge and member of a distinguished Missouri family.

Packed into the Capitol rotunda and overflowing into the side corridors were the honorary colonels and their wives, members of the Legislature, new and old state officials and hundreds of visitors from all over the state.

The mass visitation on this riverside capital of 30,000 put a severe strain on eating and housing facilities. Many Jefferson City families opened their homes to visitors. And in the railroad yards 200 visitors from Kansas City and St. Louis lived in sleeping cars.

In the capital ceremonies, the new governor shared the rostrum with the other elective state officials—Secy of State Walter H. Toberman, starting a third term; Lt. Gov. Edward V. Long, taking over Blair's old job; M. E. Morris, returning to his former position as treasurer after four years as revenue director, and Atty. Gen. John M. Dalton, starting a second term.

Long was to be sworn in at separate ceremonies in the state senate chamber this afternoon.

Dalton's oath taking was the second brother act of the ceremonies. He was sworn in by his older brother, Chief Justice S. P. Dalton of the Missouri Supreme Court.

The capitol was gaily decorated for the big affair. Silvered strands of laurel draped the balustrades and masses of smilax and palms were placed below the rostrum. In the Missouri tradition, the oaths were administered on the landing of the marble stairs, just outside the governor's office on the second floor.

Highway patrolmen helped control the mammoth traffic jam inside and outside the Capitol. About 40 patrolmen from over the state were aided by extra police from St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Sedalia, Columbia, Fulton and Mexico.

American Legion volunteers were on the job along with many national guardsmen. Band music echoed in the crisp winter air and the booming 19-gun salute to the new governor was fired on the north Capitol lawn by Battery B of the 128th Field Artillery Battalion.

Retiring Gov. Donnelly's last official act was introducing Blair before he made his brief inaugural address, outlining his views on government as a Jeffersonian Democrat and promising close cooperation with the Legislature in solving the state's problems in the years ahead.

Gov. and Mrs. Donnelly were

Starts Drouth Tour

Texans Ask More Liberal, Longer Loans to Farmers; Want Freight Cut

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP)—President Eisenhower started his motor tour of nearby drought parched farm and ranch lands at 8:08 a.m. today.

He smiled and waved to the small crowd of mostly military personnel and shook hands with several small boys as photographers' flash bulbs popped.

"Hi, there, young fellow," said the President as he stuck a hand out to David Strickland, 10, and then to his brother, Michael, 12.

The boys were taken by surprise and just looked with mouths open as the President shook their hands.

Later David said, "I don't think I'll wash my hand."

"That is the greatest thing that ever happened to me," said Michael.

D. W. Williams, vice chancellor for agriculture of the Texas A&M College system and acting A&M president, Tom Green, County Agent and Ed Hyman rode with the President on the swing through 22.6 miles of typical drought-hit range and farm land southeast of here.

Before starting on his tour, the President attended a closed-door breakfast with farmers, ranchers, businessmen, bankers and local state officials.

He was briefed on effects of the seven years of drought in Texas. He also heard the Texans recommend continuance of the present drought emergency feed and hay programs and a request that the 50 per cent cut in hay freight charges be continued.

On a long-range basis, the Texans asked for more liberal and longer loans to hard-pressed farmers and ranchers which would ease them through the drought.

Written summaries of the recommendations developed during a series of grass-roots meetings of farmers, ranchers, businessmen and bankers were given to the President.

Gov. Allan Shivers, who attended the breakfast, did not accompany the President on the drought tour.

Neither the President or any member of his party spoke at the breakfast.

After the tour the President flies to Woodward, Okla., and then to Clovis, N.M., for inspection of drought regions there. He will spend the night at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base at Tucson, Ariz., hold another breakfast parley there tomorrow morning, then take off for a look at conditions in two more states.

BPW Pledge Their Help To Refugees

Hazel Palmer Makes This Announcement At Special Meeting

The Hungarian refugees can count on members of The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs over the country to give them "on the job" advice and counsel, and to help find the right jobs, according to Miss Hazel Palmer, Sedalia, National Federation president.

Miss Palmer made her announcement of assistance to the Hungarians Saturday at the "Women in Government" luncheon, at the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C., given by the National Federation and attended by 800 Federation members and friends from over the country. Vice-President and Mrs. Nixon, women members of Congress, topflight women appointees, wives of Cabinet members and ambassadors, were lunch-company guests.

"Since The National Federation includes 170,000 women in some 700 different jobs and professions, we feel our special contribution to the Hungarian refugees can be in job assistance and individual counseling when they reach their destinations," said Miss Palmer. She said that a telegram making the Federation's offer of aid would be sent to Tracy Voorhees, President Eisenhower's coordinator for the Hungarian Refugee Program.

"Our members will be happy to render this volunteer service to the brave men and women who fought for freedom for the whole world," said Miss Palmer.

Special guests at the luncheon in Washington were Sandor and Kato Szabo, famed Hungarian stage and screen star couple who fled from Hungary in mid-December, with their teen-age sons.

Miss Palmer also announced that Federation members had already sent in voluntary gifts numbering several hundred dollars, which had been turned over to the Hungarian Relief agencies.

Israeli Troops Will Give Up City to UN Police Tomorrow

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israeli troops have promised to give up El 'Arish in the Sinai Desert to the U. N. police force tomorrow. Israeli public opinion regards that as Israel's last line of retreat until she gets strong guarantees against Arab military and economic reprisals.

El 'Arish is a strategic crossroads on the Mediterranean, 30 miles west of the Israel border. The main Egyptian forward base was located there before Israel's Oct. 29 invasion. From Cairo came word that Egyptian troops expected to enter the city a few hours after it is relinquished to the U. N. troops.

Israel's government is under the strongest pressure to state officially that no further withdrawal be discussed until the U. N. guarantees freedom of Israeli shipping in the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba and better border security along Israel's frontiers.

The eastern quarter of the Sinai that Israeli forces still occupy includes the shore of the Red Sea Gulf of Aqaba, where Egyptian gun batteries prevented ships from using Israel's only southern port until last fall's invasion.

Five Children Escape Injury When a Tree Crashes Into Home

CAMAS, Wash. (AP)—Five children were rescued, uninjured, from the pile of debris which a wind-projected tree made of their bedroom yesterday.

The windstorm sent a huge tree crashing into a bedroom of the R. R. McClellan home.

McClellan ran to the children's room at 3 a.m. and found two walls shattered. The tree splintered a bunk bed in which two teen-agers were sleeping and caved in the end of a metal bed where three little girls lay. Bob McClellan, 13, was buried beneath the splintered lumber and furniture and the family worked for 30 minutes to rescue him.

Studied 400 Wills—

Doctor Accused in Death Of Wealthy British Widow

EASTBOURNE, England (AP)—Dr. John Bodkin Adams was accused today of enslaving a wealthy 81-year-old widow by turning her into a drug addict, then killing her with overdoses after she changed her will in his favor.

The prosecution outlined its case against the highly respected 57-year-old bachelor physician at a hearing in this genteel seaside resort where many old people come to spend their last days. Scotland Yard's gentleman sleuth, Supt. Herbert Hannam, built up the case after painstaking study of the wills of 400 rich Eastbourne residents.

Prosecutor Melford Stevenson suggested the defense may take the line that the doctor merely was easing the death of a woman already dying.

He told how Dr. Adams was accused by the Scotland Yard detective Dec. 10 during the investigation of the death of the widow, Mrs. Edith Morrell. When questioned, the prosecutor said, Dr. Adams replied simply:

"Easing the passing of a dying woman is not all that wicked. She wanted to die. That can't be murder. It is impossible to accuse a doctor."

The prosecutor said Dr. Adams, while treating the aged widow, gave her massive quantities of morphine and heroin.

"One feature, one consequence of the long course of drugging to which Dr. Adams subjected this old lady was that she must have become a drug addict," Prosecutor Stevenson continued.

"If she was, it was obvious that she would become dependent upon her doctor, who was the source of these drugs, to satisfy the craving which he had created."

The court was told that Dr. Adams had "a lively personal interest" in the will of Mrs. Morrell, known as an eccentric grower of dahlias.

"It will become apparent to you that Mrs. Morrell was a somewhat capricious will-maker and it was essential from Adam's point of view, if he wanted to benefit, that she must die at a moment favorable to him," the prosecutor said.

Scheduled for Wednesday—

Postmaster Hogan Chairman March of Dimes Stamp Day

Postmaster Maurice Hogan today was appointed March of Dimes Stamp Day chairman for Wednesday, Jan. 16, when a special three-cent postage stamp will be issued honoring volunteers in the battle against polio.

March of Dimes Chairman Scott Webber of the Pettis County Chapter said, "It is fitting that Postmaster Hogan lead this event, since it was the postmasters of the nation who helped organize the first March of Dimes chapters when the organization was founded two decades ago."

The postmaster said the stamp was issued to honor the nation's 4,000,000 volunteers "whose efforts made possible the care for polio victims, the training of professional personnel and the giant research program climaxed by the Salk vaccine."

"These volunteers—our friends and neighbors—are the first group of its kind to be so honored in the history of our country," he said.

"Their job is not finished yet," Postmaster Hogan cautioned. "It will not be until polio is conquered completely."

Includes Ban On Stockpiling Nuclear Arms

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States submitted to the U. N. today a new five-point disarmament plan which would include a ban on further stockpiling of nuclear weapons. It also calls for international control of space missiles.

The program would go into effect, however, only after an iron-clad system of controls and inspections has been established to guard against violations or evasions.

The plan was laid before the General Assembly's 80-nation political committee by Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., as that body opened its general debate on the disarmament problem.

Major points of the proposal were:

1. That an agreement be reached under which all future production of fissionable materials shall be stockpiled exclusively for nonweapons purposes under international inspection.

2. That nuclear test explosions be limited and later banned, if an agreement is reached to control the stockpiling of fissionable materials. Pending such an agreement, the United States would be willing to work out a system for advance notice and limited international observation of such tests.

3. That the armed forces of the United States and the Soviet Union be limited to 2.5 million each and those of Britain and France to 750,000 each, if the nations concerned can agree on progressive establishment of an inspection system. This would include aerial inspection, as proposed by President Eisenhower at the summit meeting, and ground inspection at key points, as proposed by Premier Bulganin.

4. That the testing of all space missiles, including earth satellites and space platforms, be placed under international control to make sure that their future development is limited to peaceful purposes.

5. That an international inspection and control system be installed progressively to guard against surprise attacks. This would be supervised by an international agency which would be established concurrently with the beginning of the program.

New U. S. proposals on disarmament go before the U. N. General Assembly today. But a U. S. spokesman said the Americans still insist on adequate inspection of any disarmament.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. outlines the new proposals in a policy speech opening the annual disarmament debate of the Assembly's Political Committee.

An informed diplomat said Lodge was expected to expand on President Eisenhower's suggestion for an agreement to control space missiles and satellites.

Inspection has been a chief bone of contention in the Disarmament subcommittee's private negotiations. The group, set up by the Assembly in 1953, consists of Britain, Canada, France, the Soviet Union and the United States.

The Western Powers, with the United States taking the lead, have been pushing for aerial reconnaissance to check on disarmament.

The Russians, until last Nov. 17, would agree to nothing stronger than ground inspection teams stationed at such key locations as airfields and road junctions. The Soviet Premier Bulganin, in a letter to Eisenhower, said the Russians would consider applying aerial photographic inspection to disarmament in a belt 1,000 miles wide through Central Europe.

Lodge told the subcommittee's parent body, the 12-nation Disarmament Commission, Dec. 20 that the United States took "some hope" from this.

Princess Grace's Mother Wants Boy

MONTE CARLO (AP)—Princess Grace's mother says she hopes her daughter's first baby is a boy. Arriving at the Palace of Monaco to be with her daughter and Prince Rainier, Mrs. John Kelly of Philadelphia told reporters: "I already have five granddaughters. What I need now is a grandson." The baby is expected Jan. 20.

Cold Front Engulfs State; Slow Warmup

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A cold front engulfed Missouri today dropping temperatures well below the zero mark at some northern points.

And the weatherman sees little prospect of a substantial warmup. For the next five days he sees temperatures averaging 6 to 12 degrees below normal, with a slow warming about Thursday or Friday.

Kirksville was the state's coldest this morning with 16 degrees below zero. Maryville had 7 below, Brookfield 4 below, Columbia 1 below and St. Joseph zero.

Other readings included: St. Louis 1, Sedalia, Rolla and Kansas City 3, Farmington and Butler 5, Jefferson City 7, Springfield 11, Malden and West Plains 13 and Joplin 14.

The forecast is for readings of from zero to 5 below in the northeast to 10 to 15 in the southwest Tuesday morning with highs of 10 to 15 in the north and 15 to 25 in the south.

While many points reported a trace of moisture in the past 24 hours only Kirksville had a measurable amount, just .03.

Precipitation will be scant according to a 5-day forecast, averaging less than 1-10th of an inch mostly as snow after Wednesday.

Conservatives Keep Control In Britain

By HAL COOPER
LONDON (AP)—The right wing of the Conservative party emerged today with a dominant voice in the government of Britain's new Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Widespread predictions that Macmillan's Cabinet appointments would toss a sop to British and foreign critics of former Prime Minister Eden's Suez military adventure failed to materialize.

The 18-man Cabinet announced today was made up largely of familiar faces. The new prime minister even retained John Selwyn Lloyd, an architect of the Suez invasion, as foreign secretary.

It had been generally believed Lloyd was marked for dismissal because of the Suez venture's adverse diplomatic consequences.

Richard Austen Butler, Macmillan's chief rival for the prime ministership, was reappointed government leader in the House of Commons and lord privy seal and given the additional post of home secretary. Butler was one of the few top men in the Cabinet who was cool to Eden's Suez policies.

Another forthright supporter of the Suez campaign, Peter Thorneycroft, was promoted from president of the Board of Trade to the key post of chancellor of the exchequer, Macmillan's old job.

Macmillan dropped five of Eden's Cabinet ministers. One was Defense Minister Anthony Head, whose ministry carried out the Suez invasion.

Movie Actor Dies of Cancer At Age of 56
By JIM BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Humphrey Bogart, 56, died early today of cancer.

Operated on last March of cancer of the esophagus, Bogart was still optimistic about his illness as late as Saturday night. Then Sunday he lapsed into a coma from which he never revived.

His doctor, Dr. Maynard Bandman, said death came at the actor's home from a general spread of the original cancer.

Bogart, academy award winner, had been in some pain the last few weeks, but a recent nerve tissue operation had eased that somewhat. But he had steadily grown weaker and weaker.

The famed actor, born Christmas Day 1900, is survived by his wife, actress Lauren Bacall, two children, Stephen, 8, and Leslie, 4.

Mrs. Bogart asked that no photographers visit the house this morning. She wanted the children to leave for school as usual.

The funeral will be held Wednesday or Thursday at Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Bogie, the movies' favorite "tough guy" never would admit publicly that cancer would beat him.

"I'm a better man than I ever was," he told this reporter just a few weeks ago.

If Bogart knew he was going to die, he never let on to friends.

A New York newspaper recently printed that death was imminent and when other papers and wire services called to check it was Bogart himself who answered the phone with a caustic:

"What are the ghouls saying about me now?"

Letter to Attorney Sends Police to Scene of Murder, Suicide
EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—It was Sunday but Atty. Richard Thwing picked up his mail and went to the office to glance through it. He came to a letter which ended:

"... unable to go on like this."

Thwing called police. They sped to the home of Lee Chilberg, an acquaintance of Thwing's, 30 miles southeast of Eugene.

Mrs. Chilberg, 54, had been axed to death. Chilberg, also 54, was hanging in the garage.

Investigators said Chilberg evidently wrote and posted the letter Saturday morning after killing his wife. Both were in poor health and neither had work.

Senator's Resignation May Give GOP Control
WASHINGTON (AP)—The resignation of Sen. Price Daniel (D-Tex) tomorrow to become governor of Texas raises once again the possibility that Republicans may take control of the Senate.

This could only happen, however, if retiring Gov. Allan Shivers names a successor to Daniel who would vote with Senate Republicans, and makes the appointment stick. Shivers, though a Democrat, has supported President Eisenhower.

Republican Leader William Knowland of California already has given notice that any time the GOP can muster 48 votes it will take over control of the Senate.

That would require a tie-breaking vote in favor of the Republicans by Vice President Nixon. With Daniel's vote, the Democrats now have a 49-47 edge in the Senate.

Miller's Body

role in directing the searchers that brought about finding the body.

Although it had been reported Miller had not been in the best of health for sometime, it was pointed out that it was possible his hat may have blown from his head and in an endeavor to grab it he may have toppled over the railing. The fall was at one of the high points of the bridge.

The Miller car, a 1953 Chevrolet, was discovered on the bridge by George Hanna, toll gate cashier, who took Miller's toll between 10 and 11 a. m. Friday. It was about 30 minutes later that he saw the car on the bridge and investigated. One tire was low and beside it was a hub cap and a lug wrench, which gave the appearance that Miller had started to change tires on the bridge.

After the inquisition at Carrollton the body was brought to Sedalia in the Gillespie funeral coach and taken to that funeral home.

Mr. Miller was born Oct. 22, 1899, in Winnebago township, Fairbault County, Minn., son of Miles L. and Susan Magdalena Stauffer Miller. He received his elementary and high school education in the schools there and later at the University of Minnesota. On Oct. 2, 1932, he was married to Miss Garnette Benthall in Hickman County, Ill. They went to St. Louis where they resided until 1936, when they moved to Cape Girardeau, and from there came to Sedalia in 1939.

He was an active member of the First Methodist Church, having served on various boards and other societies of the church. He was a representative of the Peter Hauptmann Tobacco Co. and, besides being a salesman, coached others taking employment with that company.

Surviving are: his wife; a twin brother, Lyle H. Miller, Minneapolis, Minn.; another brother, Guy C. Miller, Spencer, Ia.; three sisters, Mrs. A. N. Boler and Mrs. W. L. Fessenden, both of Winnebago, Minn., and Mrs. J. W. M. Harves, Duluth, Minn.; and several nieces and nephews. A son, Robert Miller, died in Sedalia May 24, 1948.

Funeral services will be at 10 a. m. Tuesday at the Gillespie Funeral Home, Dr. Elmer L. Hobbs, pastor of the First Methodist Church, to officiate. Mrs. C. D. Demand will be in charge of the music.

She and Mrs. Charles Maggard will sing "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and Mrs. Demand will sing "Leave It With Him." Mrs. Robert Crouch will be at the organ.

Pallbearers will be Robt. Crouch, Glen Stewart, Ira Barnes, Bill Cline, Dr. Lowell Glaze and Emms Sutherland.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery.

Polish Union Leaders Support Red Demands On Parliament Votes
WARSAW (AP)—Polish trade union leaders are supporting Communist party chief Wladyslaw Gomułka's demand that the voters relinquish their narrow margin of freedom in the Jan. 20 parliamentary elections.

The union leaders, after a meeting of their Central Council called on their more than four million members to vote for the Communist-dominated National Front candidates without exercising their right to strike out names.

Gomułka's United Workers (Communist) party formed the front with the United Peasants and the Democratic parties. Their single ticket will be offered the voters. However, in what was supposed to be a "democratic" move, the voters were granted the right to strike names from the ticket.

This change persuaded many voters that their ballots would mean something this time. However, the Communist leaders feared that it might leave an opening for those who object to the regime to give the ax to prominent candidates.

Chief of Police Has Theory on Kidnaping Case of Film Star
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police Chief William Parker says he has "a pretty solid theory" about the Marie McDonald kidnap case. But he's not talking - yet.

"I'm not yet in a position to express it," Parker said, "of the progress of police investigation of the case he said;

"We're at the point now of trying to compile a specific list of variations between Miss McDonald's version when she was questioned in the hospital at India, and the version she gave before police movie cameras during her re-enactment of the case 'at her home.'"

The blonde actress disappeared from her home in suburban Encino Jan. 3 and was found the next night on the desert near Indio.

She has stated that she would be willing to take a lie detector test, but her attorney, Jerry Giesler, said, "not if she listens to me. It's an insulting thing."

The Mature Parent—The 'Rationalizing' Child Really Learns It From Us

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

When company comes to dinner, Edith, aged 14, and Sissy, 11, wash and dry the dishes. Later their mother puts them away. One evening after a company dinner that included leg of lamb, Edith decided not to wash the roasting pan. Coldly greasy, it looked so disagreeable that she didn't want to touch it. So she left it on the stove, hoping her mother would not find it until she'd gone to bed — and then wash it herself.

But her mother found it before Edith went upstairs. Calling her, she asked, "What's this pan doing here unwashed?"

"I thought you might want to save what was left of the gravy in it," Edith said.

This answer was what psychologists call "rationalizing" — the attempt to make ourselves acceptable to the other fellow by denying what we are. It's purpose is evasion of criticism. By rejecting herself as a girl who dislikes nasty chores and appearing as one virtuously concerned only with her mother's wishes, Edith hoped to avert attack for the unwashed roasting pan.

She didn't succeed. As usual, her mother was irritated by her evasiveness and snapped, "Don't give me that! You just didn't want to wash it."

Irritation with the "rationalizing" child's evasiveness does not help him outgrow it. All it does is suggest that he is his moral superior — and force him to insist on his false virtuousness more aggressively than ever.

If we want to teach him how to give us the less pleasant truths about himself, there's only one way to do it — give him the less pleasant ones about us.

As we prepare to wash that roasting pan ourselves, we say to Edith, "I don't blame you for not wanting to scour this pan. It's a horrid chore. I'd like to avoid it myself. The only difference between us is that I'm older than you. I've had longer to learn that it's silly to avoid what has to be done."

Children learn "rationalizing" from us. If our youngsters go in for it, we should be glad to know he's probably got the trick from us. Our resentment at him is our resentment against the moral values that have forced us to "rationalize," pretending we like nasty chores we dislike, that we always do everything right and have no more progress to make in this earthly experience.

It can be the best thing that ever happened to him when a child shows us the absurdity of our claim to faultlessness by claiming it himself.

East Baptist Church Group Holds Party For Retired Shut-in

For the past four years J. G. Ellis, 1501 South Prospect, a retired Missouri Pacific employee, has been a shut-in from arthritis. Friday he had a birthday and he never had such a wonderful day. It all started with a card shower, some beautiful, some funny, and when he got around to counting them he had 58.

Then came evening and the young people of the R. B. Lee Training Union of the East Sedalia Baptist Church, together with their counselors, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Silbey and the pastor, the Rev. Kenneth W. Davidson, of the East Sedalia Baptist Church, called on him and presented him a very large, beautifully decorated cake and a box of decorated home-made cookies. Visiting shut-ins is part of the missionary project of the young people of this church. That seemed like it was a big birthday celebration all in itself, but that wasn't all. In a short time a group of friends swarmed in on him and he was so happy to see them.

Ellis is always a perfect host and he feels that when guests come in they should be served but he wasn't about to give up that big cake unless it was absolutely necessary.

"Do we have anything in the house to feed this bunch?" he whispered to his wife. What he didn't know was that some of them had slipped in the back way with their own refreshments which they planned to serve later.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Newland, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Sowers, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. McAtee, Mr. and Mrs. William Richardson, and Debbie; Terry and Jimmy Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Ervine Phillips and Cindy and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gregory.

Minister Prays For Violence End In Montgomery

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A Negro minister stood in his bomb-damaged church yesterday and prayed for "moral courage for city officials to do the right thing" to stop violence in Montgomery.

The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy also said that if President Eisenhower "would just say a word to the city, it would have great value."

Abernathy's home and the residence of a white minister who leads a Negro congregation were damaged by bombs last week. Four Negro churches also were bombed. No one was injured.

It was the worst outbreak of violence so far in the current drive by Montgomery Negroes for racial equality.

The city bus system, on which Negroes won an end to segregation by federal court order three weeks ago, was halted indefinitely by the City Commission.

Most Negro churches held regular evening services yesterday, but Abernathy halted night services at his First Baptist Church "because we feel it might endanger the lives of our congregation."

No violence has been reported since the bombings.

In the bomb-blasted Hutchinson Street Baptist Church, the Rev. H. H. Johnson gave a sermon he said was intended "to give the congregation the assurance that none of these things have softened me, made me want to turn around and give in" on the integration fight.

Collie Puppy Returns To Master's Side After Shot, Buried

JASPER, Ga. (AP) — A collie puppy named Butch literally crawled out of the grave to return to the side of his 3-year-old master.

A neighbor's car hit Butch a couple of weeks ago. The neighbor shot the puppy to end his misery and then buried him in a shallow grave about five miles away.

Twelve days later Andrew Wallace, 3, and his father Sherman Wallace heard a scratching at the door and there was Butch, more dead than alive.

The puppy was rushed to an animal hospital at Gainesville about 40 miles northwest of this north Georgia town.

Dr. Carl A. Blunt said Butch had pneumonia, a fractured pelvis, right foreleg and right hindleg and a .22-caliber bullet wound through the cheekbone below the left eye.

Butch is over the pneumonia now and should be able to walk.

CONSTIPATED? new laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

AND, OF ALL LAXATIVES, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moisturizing capacity plus COLONOID's stretch-stimulating bulk that activates normal colon reflexes. So effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONOID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy.

SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions.

IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! ## You Do Have A Stake In Traffic Safety

There is little doubt that some realistic legislation will be passed this session of the Missouri Legislature directed at laws related to the privilege of driving motor vehicles on our streets and highways.

Great public demand has arisen for increasing the highway patrol to 600 men, establishing speed regulations, and tightening up the drivers' license law. The latter should include stricter physical examinations and vehicle inspection.

Slaughter on Missouri's highways in 1956, well above the 1,000 mark, can be blamed partly on public indifference to the problem. Unless this attitude is changed and communicated to the Missouri legislators from every county in the state adequate controlling legislation may not be forthcoming this session.

The time for it is now as expressed by the Highway Patrol's Col. Hugh H. Waggoner who says: "We have come to a time when the man who won't discipline himself at the wheel, will be disciplined by others."

Thousands of Missourians who are indifferent to the patrol's program for traffic safety legislation probably got that way because they have not been involved in an accident — so why should they get all worked up about it since it's no skin off their back or no money out of their pocket.

But if they are automobile owners they should realize that they do have a personal interest in the deaths of over 100 men, women and children on the highways each month, besides the destruction of millions of dollars worth of property.

This condition, if continued, is going to rip their pocketbooks because liability insurance rates are bound to go up. More and more juries are returning big verdicts for damages in automobile accidents. Already hard hit in 1955, damage claims in 1956 on an even higher level induced insurance companies to make increases. Bigger and more widespread boosts are sure to come.

The National Association of Independent Insurers, which accounts for about 40 per cent of all auto liability insurance in the nation, reports the claims costs are running 30 per cent higher than in 1952, according to the Wall Street Journal. The auto liability business of all companies last year squeaked through with a profit of only a fraction of 1 per cent. This means that many companies with average or low rates probably ended the year with a loss.

Mr. Missouri automobile owner, how long do you think you can buy equitable protection on present rates if you don't cast aside your indifference to the highway slaughter problem, higher jury awards in personal injury cases, increasing hospital and garage costs on repairs of bigger windshields, upswep rear fenders and other features that lead to larger repair bills?

What the legislature intends to do about traffic safety legislation this session is every automobile owner's and driver's business. If not for humanity's sake, then for the sake of the currency content of his own pocketbook.

Express your feeling about traffic safety regulation to your legislator now meeting in Jefferson City. If you don't know his name we'll be glad to supply it to you, wherever you may live in the State of Missouri.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Knowland Slipped On Retirement Plan

WASHINGTON—Real truth is that a slip of the tongue on a recorded broadcast was what caused Sen. William Knowland to shake up the politicians with the announcement that he would not run again.

Knowland was telling the truth, as usual, when he said he wanted to spend more time with his family. However, other factors were also involved.

It's true that Mrs. Knowland, who has two daughters and several grandchildren back in California, has been emotionally tied to them and anxious to be back in California. The senator calls her frequently from his office during the day. His father is still a vigorous publisher of the Oakland Tribune, despite the age of 83, but has also been talking about having the senator come home.

In the background also is friction between Knowland and the young man whose meteoric rise has threatened to nudge him out of any ambitions for the presidency—Richard M. Nixon.

This has been apparent to close observers for some time and cropped up again in a minor incident which no one knew about.

When Republican leaders, called to the White House for a conference, were about to leave, Nixon was asked to stay behind. He was singled out from other Republican leaders, including Knowland, for special advice.

It was a small incident, but fits into the general White House pattern of bypassing Knowland when Sherman Adams wants anything done on Capitol Hill.

The Knowland-Nixon feud was patched up last summer, and the senator emphatically came to Nixon's support against Stassen. In return he was promised a greater part in molding American foreign policy. But last fall at the United Nations, Knowland, a delegate found himself forced to make statements in flat disagreement with Eisenhower policy.

As the Senate opened, there came another showdown. Knowland tried to dissuade Nixon from making a statement against rule 22 protecting the right to filibuster.

"I have no other choice," Nixon answered, implying that his statement represented the considered policy of the Eisenhower administration.

"The President runs the executive branch, but I'm running the Senate," Knowland is quoted by friends as replying.

All these factors had contributed to Knowland's decision to retire. But he expected to make his decision after inauguration day, January 20. This he thought was fair to the President, yet would give him a fair degree of independence during the remaining two years.

A slip of the tongue on a CBS broadcast, however, caused him to announce on January 7, two weeks in advance. Griffing Bancroft was transcribing his "Capitol Cloakroom" program on Monday morning for release at 9:30 that night. Knowland was his guest. Bancroft asked if the senator had any plans to run for president in 1960, got a non-committal answer; and then with only 30 seconds to go, and more or less to fill up time, he asked:

"Do you plan to seek re-election in 1960?"

"No, I do not," Knowland replied, and immediately wished he had kept his mouth shut.

This was Monday morning. By Monday afternoon the senator from California decided that it wasn't fair to give such an announcement to one newsman over a commercial program, so called a press conference and made the statement that set Washington buzzing.

J. Edgar Hoover for President

Sen. Joe McCarthy, who began the Senate session with a wild attack on President Eisenhower, is trying to drum up a presidential boom for FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover.

McCarthy's Hoover-for-president boom, however, is embarrassing the FBI.

"We aren't responsible for what Joe does," the FBI's affable press agent, Lou Nichols, told this column.

We Are Dependent, Too

Recent increases in the prices of crude oil and gasoline in the United States are expected by the experts to become nation-wide. Some crude prices have shot up 12 per cent.

In consequence, motorists may soon be paying more for fuel and homeowners likewise for heating oils.

One of the firms involved in the boost declared that one big cause was the notable rise in the oil industry's costs since the last price hike in 1953, three and a half years ago.

But it is agreed, too, that the sharp drop in shipments of Middle Eastern oil via Suez to the U.S. east coast is a prime factor. Furthermore, U.S. shipments abroad to take up some of the serious Middle Eastern slack have put additional pressure on our supplies.

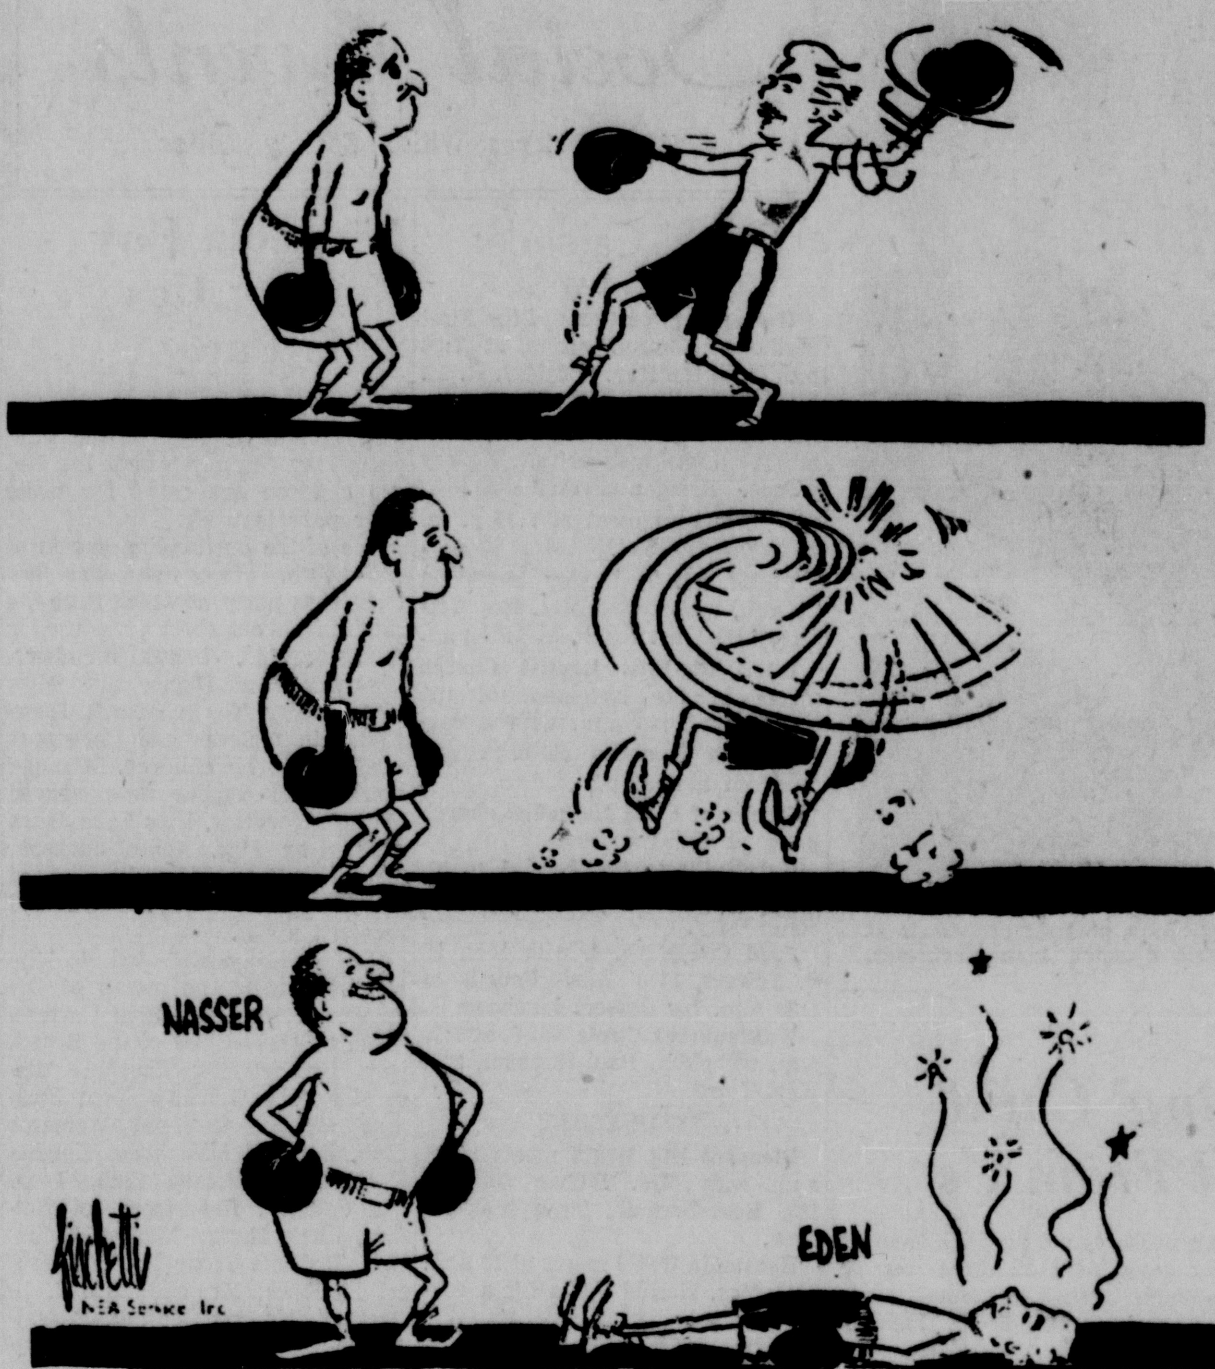

When you begin putting out that extra money for gasoline and oil, you will be experiencing afresh the lesson of America's close economic links with the rest of the world. In this interdependent age there seems no way to gain insulation against the events that stir any quarter of the globe.

Thought for Today—

So that we ourselves glory in you in the churches of God for your patience and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations that ye endure.—II Thess. 1:4.

By His trials, God means to purify us, to take away all our self-confidence, and our trust in each other, and bring us into implicit, humble trust in Himself.

Leaders of Government Stir Confusion

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The leaders of government, past and present, agree something should be done to save the Middle East from Russia. But they don't exactly agree on how. The result is more confusion.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles are vague on how to carry out the plan they've offered. Former President Truman backs them and then adds a tough idea of his own.

Yet former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who helped Truman form his foreign policies, seems in disagreement with Eisenhower and Truman on a basic point and most certainly is in disagreement with Dulles.

The problem shared by the United States and Russia, each of whom wants to keep the Middle East away from the other, is how to win friends and influence people there.

Sometimes lost sight of in the present wide debate on American policy in the Middle East is what the people who live there think of it and whether they want it and, above all, what the Russians think.

Eisenhower proposes using American armed forces to stop any aggression in the area by a Communist or Communist-inspired government against a non-Communist state, if the latter asks for help.

In addition, he wants to give nations in the area both arms and economic aid.

Truman backs this, even though

1932
Henry L. Stevens, Warsaw, N.C., national commander of the American Legion, was guest of the Pettis County post, and from here went to Chicago.

1932
Rev. H. H. Heidebreder, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, was to attend the regional meeting of district chairman of Valparaiso University on January 19 at Valparaiso, Ind.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Graham, who had been on a honeymoon visit at various points along the Pacific coast, arrived home after an absence of five weeks.

1917
Edward Hughes, for seven years a rural mail carrier at Hughesville resigned to go to his farm in Oklahoma.

Judge Henry Lamm was in Jefferson City to argue a case before the Missouri Supreme Court.

Eisenhower and Dulles have been utterly foggy on how they'll distribute the arms or the aid. But Truman goes them one better: He says he'd forbid Russia to ship arms to any nation in the area. He seems to forget the Russians and the Arab countries are independent states who like to think they can buy and sell where they please.

This kind of talk from Truman may seem, to the Arabs, a simple declaration of intent to treat them as American colonies, although being colonies is exactly what they don't want, or say they don't.

The Russians, being a huge military power, could hardly be expected to let the United States get away with a ban on Soviet arms shipments, unless they bluff easily. Truman, judging from what he said yesterday, seems to think the Russians would back down.

Dulles, whose job is to explain Eisenhower's policy on the Middle East, indicated to Congress last week that in sending American forces to stop "overt" Red aggression in the area President Eisenhower would decide whether Russia was trying to start World War III.

In such a situation, Dulles went on, Eisenhower would decide whether to make an all-out attack on the Soviet Union.

This policy at least would call for waiting for Red attack before Americans started to shoot. But Truman's warning to Russia not to sell arms in the area would call for a showdown before any shooting and, if Russia asserted its sovereignty by selling arms, it would probably lead to World War III.

Acheson, testifying before Truman's statement appeared, recoiled even from Dulles stand and said it appears "perilously like another approach to the brink."

This was a sarcastic reference to a statement by Dulles last year in Life magazine that the art of statesmanship was to get to the brink of war without falling in. Acheson himself — in his testimony before Congress and in a long article he wrote for the New York Times a week ago — doesn't seem very clear either on the precise solution he'd offer if he were now the secretary.

The Russians listed to the discussion of American policy in this country for the past week and then over the weekend gave a warning of their own: that the Eisenhower-Dulles doctrine may lead to "dangerous consequences."

Will Senate Types Go?

Rule 22 Charge Threatens Conservative Fortress

By JOSEPH A. DEAR
Of Our Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON—It would be the ultimate irony of contemporary politics if the fortress of conservatism were undermined by Vice President Nixon.

Mr. Nixon has been the bully boy of many conservatives in and out of the Republican party. Yet it was his advisory opinion, offered during the debate on the revision of Senate rules, that threatens the fortress.

One reason the Senate is a citadel for the conservatives is because by tradition Senators refuse to be hurried. The Senate wants to take its own time in approaching problems. And it does.

Moreover, the rules of the Senate make it practically impossible for the body to act fast unless an overwhelming majority of the membership wants to. Debate cannot be limited except on the affirmative vote of 64 Senators. That's the effect of Senate rule 22.

Last week Mr. Nixon questioned the constitutionality of Rule 22 as it stands. He said the Senate itself would have to resolve this question. (The Rule seemingly denies new Senators the right to decide whether old rules should be continued, though the constitution provides that the Senate itself shall make its own rules.)

The "new coalition" of liberal Republicans and Democrats, while showing surprising strength, was unable to rewrite Rule 22. But Mr. Nixon's advisory has kept the issue alive. As a result, there will be another drive. It is possible that the Rule 22 can be rewritten so that Mr. Nixon's question as to its constitutionality will be resolved without making it any easier to break filibusters. If that can be done, it probably will be done.

This would represent some progress. But actually, the fall of the fortress is unlikely unless there is a transformation in the land. The decisive issue is civil rights. The "new coalition" won't win without mobilizing at every political level in all parts of the country.

It would take a sustained effort over many years to win. And the victory would probably diminish the importance of the Senate.

For one thing, victory might not be possible until the Senate type lost out. Many members of the Senate, though alert to the political winds outside of Washington, are nonetheless more responsive to considerations involving the Senate as an institution. These are Senate types. So long as they are around, revision of rules won't be easy.

The Senate might respond to wishes of the electorate faster if they go. But their passing would represent a real loss on many counts. They are the men who, in many instances, have contributed to stability and responsibility of Congressional government.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

Rep. Warren Hearnes (D-Mississippi county) says Johnson grass is getting to be a big menace in Missouri. But that's not Hearnes' big problem.

Hearnes, majority floor leader in the house, introduced a bill recently to provide for eradication of the pecky Johnson grass. He said his big problem is to get the legislature to take him seriously. "They all think this is a joke," he said.

Hearnes said Johnson grass is a terrific problem in southeast Missouri and it is moving northward. "It's going to ruin us unless something is done," he said. The fast growing grass chokes out other vegetation, he said, and adds to the cost of cotton farming since it requires multiple chopping jobs.

Hearnes' proposal would permit any county court to determine if Johnson grass was a threat to the county's agriculture. Then it could take steps for the eradication of the grass. If the grass was growing on state highway right of ways, the state would pay for its eradication with chemicals. On railroad right of ways, the railroads would pay for eliminating the grass. For eradication of Johnson grass on county road right of ways, the costs would be assessed against owners of land adjacent to the right of way.

Hearnes said unless his bill got a warm reception at its hearing before the house agriculture committee, he would withdraw it.

The sponsor of a proposed constitutional change to permit municipalities to issue revenue bonds to build factories to be leased to industries believes it is one of the most important pieces of legislation affecting rural Missouri.

The proposal would let any city, town, or village in Missouri issue the revenue bonds if four sevenths of the qualified voters approved. Senator John Noble and J. F. Patterson, both Democrats, introduced the proposed amendment to the constitution.

Patterson, a chamber of commerce manager at Caruthersville, said the right to issue the bonds to provide sites for industry would make it easier for small communities to attract factories. He noted that industries now prefer to rent their factory buildings since the rentals can be written off taxes.

Patterson said the revenue bond authority for building factories would have several safeguards. He said the bonds could not be issued and sold unless the buildings they would finance could be rented to approved industries. In case of failures, he said the bond holders could take over the building to satisfy the indebtedness. The cities would not be obligated to make good on the bonds he said.

The proposed constitutional amendment must pass both houses of the legislature and then face a vote of the people before it can go into effect.

The state tax commission would welcome and cooperate with a proposed study of Missouri's tax structure, according to Sen. J. F. Patterson, sponsor of a resolution proposing the study.

The resolution was adopted recently by the senate but also must gain approval of the house to go

Careful Management Is Necessary To Keep Ahead of Cattle Market

Local Livestock Men Hear About Proper Records

Twenty livestock men attended a livestock meeting at W. P. Nicholson's farm near Hughesville, on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 10.

Nicholson has been keeping record on cattle for the past two years. Merle Vaughan, County Extension Agent, explained that Nicholson has graded his calves at birth according to size and quality to judge the performance of his four bulls, also according to the average daily gain from birth to weaning time, and the number of heifers and bull calves sired.

In addition a record of the average daily gain from birth to weaning age was kept on the basis of sex, on the basis of the month dropped, and on the basis of the cows age.

Nicholson told how he kept each calf's record by putting a tag with a number in their ear shortly after birth. Nicholson keeps a card file corresponding with the number in the calves ear which gives the cows number and the bull by which sired. Nicholson has kept back 34 replacement heifers and has selected them on the basis of those records. He says there were several other heifers that looked good enough to keep as replacement heifers, but is feeding them out for market because they don't have as good a record to back them.

Bill Pugh, State Extension animal husbandry specialist, was the principal speaker for the day. Pugh said the outlook for cattle prices would appear to be about the same as last year. He said with 97 million cattle now and the number increasing every year, the men with cattle herds can't afford to do just an average job of management and expect to make money from cattle. A cattle raiser must (1) keep good records on the calves and cull out cows that raise the poor quality calves (2) give serious thought to pasture improvement and (3) provide plenty of good quality roughage. A cattle man should not be without some silage on the farm. As has been said for many years, one acre of corn made into silage is worth 1½ acres of corn used the normal way. The use of silage also helps out on pasture, as the ground is released for grazing.

Livestock men must cheapen the cost of gains. One way of doing this is making sure there is plenty of protein in the ration. Soybean oil meal and cotton seed oil meal are still the cheapest forms of protein to buy. If good legume hay is fed, a large percentage of the protein will be taken care of. Vitamins A can be supplied by silage, good green leafy legume hay or by adding it in the supplement.

Pugh said that feeding stillbesterol shows the most economical gains when fed to steers and heifers, 600 pounds and over and when they are going to be moved on full feed. Stillbesterol should not be fed to breeding stock. A cheap method of giving stillbesterol to cattle is by a new device which implants a pellet under the skin on the back of the ear. A steer needs three of the 12 mg. pellets which are to be im-

Size of Supply Is Key—

Livestock Feeders Can Save By Using Substitute Feeds

Livestock feeders may find that savings can be made in substituting some feed grains and other concentrates for those commonly used, says D. N. Harrington, University of Missouri agricultural economist.

The high or low supply of feed grains and its effect on price in an area may be the key to what feed grain and other concentrates are most profitable to buy.

However, Harrington warns this is a changing situation by seasons, or by years, depending upon the kind of harvest or the size of the corn, oats, barley, sorghum grain, and soybean crops.

Feed is one of the major costs for every farmer producing livestock and poultry. Feed costs amount to more than 2-3 of the total cost of producing hogs, broilers, and turkeys, and over ½ of the costs of fattening cattle, and about ¼ of the cost of producing milk.

Because of their importance, it pays to select feeds that give the best value for the money. However, feeds that are the best buy during November and December may not be the best buy in June and July or next year, Harrington says.

For example, prices of soybean meal relative to bran and corn hit a record low in October and are still at lower than average levels. Comparisons of the various feed grains as shown in the accompanying table take into account the relative feeding value for the type of livestock or poultry specified. The table also considers the difference in weight between different grains and a bushel of corn.

The purpose of the table is to serve as a rough guide as to the cheapest feed grain for these types of livestock, Harrington says.

The prices don't allow for cost of grinding or other processing which may be necessary for one grain and not for another. The quality and type of grain also would have to be considered. Also, the table assumes that all grains would be fed in balanced ration.

Comparisons don't necessarily apply if use of the grain is increased to such an extent that it makes up an abnormally large part of the ration since there may be limits to such substitutions. For most livestock and poultry, the feeder probably will find it desirable to retain minimum quantities of various ingredients, making only partial, and not complete, substitutions.

Under normal practices, the table shows about what a feeder can pay for other grains at various corn prices. For example, a dairyman could pay about 72 cents a bushel for oats with corn at $1.40 per bushel and be getting about the same feeding value per dollar, Harrington says.

If the price of oats is much below 72 cents, oats would be cheaper feed. If it's much above 72 cents, then corn would be cheaper.

It doesn't seem practical to implant the pellets or feed stillbesterol in the feed while the cattle are on grass but is best to give during the last 60-90 days when on a full feeding program.

The livestock day ended with Pugh pointing out what to look for in cattle grades by showing a lot each of choice, high good, and good steers that had been sorted out before the meeting.

County ASC Delegates To Hold Meet

The annual conference of the Missouri ASC County Committees and Office Managers will be held Jan. 21 and 22 at the Jefferson Hotel in St. Louis, according to D. G. Monsees, state ASC chairman.

Approximately 500 committee-men, office managers, and Washington representatives are expected to attend, he said.

Seven work committees have been designated to carry out discussions regarding administrative problems. These committees and their moderators include: conservation, Ed Rasa, Lafayette County; administrative, C. Ray Curtis, Jackson County; cotton, Vivrette Lee, Mississippi County; price supports, Walter Brunjes, Franklin County; storage, John Hicks, Caldwell County; soil bank, Wayne George, Mercer County; production adjustment, Garnett Culwell, Audrain County.

These committees will meet in individual groups during the two-day conference for the purpose of compiling recommendations and suggestions for better administration of all ASC programs. These recommendations will be presented before the entire group in the general assembly Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 22, and will be used as a basis for operating procedure during the ensuing year, Monsees said.

Roderick Turnbull, editor of the Weekly Star Farmer, will address the group at a banquet Monday evening, Jan. 21. Speaker at the Tuesday afternoon session will be Clay H. Stackhouse, assistant deputy administrator for production adjustment.

Other speakers who will appear on the program include the following Washington personnel: Wilson Tucker, cotton division; Frank Brewer, grain division; Otis Casberry, performance and aerial photography; Robert Ball, soil bank division; Everett Felber, staff assistant to deputy administrator for production adjustment; Floyd Morris, area director's office; Fred Ritchie, deputy administrator, ACPS.

J. H. Longwell, dean of the Missouri College of Agriculture, and J. W. Burch, extension director, both of Columbia, are also scheduled to speak.

County Brucellosis Program Seemingly Assured

A total of 1413 Pettis County cattle owners have indicated that they are in favor of the county becoming a Modified Certified Brucellosis Free County. The committee had needed 1372 signers so it would appear that the program is assured.

It is known that a few signers were confused and printed their signatures. Also some women signed for their husbands. There may be enough of those to still keep the total from reaching the 1372 signatures.

We will attempt to mail new petitions in those cases. Persons receiving them will need to sign them, get them notarized at the nearest Notary Public, and mail them to the extension office in the envelope which will be enclosed.

Also folks who have cattle and have not yet signed petitions are urged to come by the office to help assure adequate signatures.

W. P. Nicholson, chairman of the County Brucellosis Committee, asked that I publicly thank the 95 men who carried petitions and the 1413 folks who have signed the petitions for their cooperation and assistance.

I am sure that the petitions carriers also appreciate the attitude of most of the minority (about 10 per cent) who refused to sign the petitions. Most of this minority went out of their way to say that they wanted more information.

It can be... even if it's never been listed before

An "extra listing" in the telephone book will make it easier for friends to get in touch with you, especially if the telephone where you live is listed under somebody else's name. ### Some Testing Now

Several folks have wanted to get the cattle tested before the calves come, before spring work starts and before the cattle are moved to pasture. Because of that they are making arrangements with veterinarians to do the work as soon as they can get to it.

Some of them are making arrangements for the veterinarian to get several herds in a neighborhood on one trip. One such group recently completed such testing in Mr. Nicholson's own neighborhood, west of Hughesville. Another advantage of such early testing is that a person is more likely to get the veterinarian of his choice.

Such early testing is on the same basis as when the county testing starts with free tests, free vaccinations and indemnity on reac-

Your own Anhydrous Ammonia rig offers you an exceptional profit opportunity. In the 1956 Corn Growing Contest, 94 farmers applied MFA Anhydrous Ammonia (82% Nitrogen) as preplant. These 94 farmers produced an average yield of 120.10 bushels corn per acre. This compares to the state average of 47 bushels, and shows a profit of $77.30 more per acre than the state average. The 94 farmers produced 11 bushels more per acre than those who used other forms of nitrogen, or $14.30 more income per acre. Your own Anhydrous Ammonia rig is the cheapest way to use this fertilizer. It will pay for itself quickly and a profit for years to come. Requires only a moderate down payment. Two years to pay. # US Trotting Association Has Meeting on Fair Schedules

Many Sedalians Attend Meeting Over Weekend

The United States Trotting Association, District Four, held its annual winter meeting and banquet at the Phillips hotel in Kansas City the past weekend. More than 100 harness horse trainers, drivers, and owners were in attendance, along with several Sedalians.

E. A. Duensing, representing the USTA, acted as chairman of the meeting. During the banquet E. C. Morarity of Wichita, Kan., well-known in Sedalia, made a presentation of a beautiful portrait of Duensing to him. The picture was taken in the speed department of the fair in 1956.

During the banquet, motion pictures of the 1956 Hambletonian race at Goshen track, N.Y., and the Little Brown Jug race at Delaware, O., were shown. The Hambletonian, the richest harness race in the world, with stakes of over $100,000, will be seen at the Du Quoin, Ill., State Fair Aug. 27.

It was brought out at the meeting that the Hambletonian Preview is to be seen at the Missouri State Fair on Aug. 20, when the Grand Circuit returns to the Missouri fair track. All the horses which have been entered in the big race will be run on the Sedalia track.

Al Ahrens, representative of the USTA, Columbus, O., was the principal speaker on the program. Ahrens told of the ever-increasing interest in harness racing. Many of the county fairs are now returning to harness racing for part of their program throughout the country, while a good majority of the state fairs are increasing their racing programs in harness racing.

"Harness racing offers excellent entertainment and is one of the cleanest of sports," he said in his talk.

Sunday the MONK Harness Racing Association held its meeting at the hotel. The circuit represents fairs in Missouri, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Kansas. At this meeting, fair and race dates were discussed.

Attending from Sedalia were State Representative Milt Overstreet, M. C. "Colie" Ervin, who is interested in the State Fair racing program, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Parkhurst, D. Kelly Scruton, sports editor of The Democrat-Capital, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Dorman, Albert Lee, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Nick Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. Rowe Ewing and George W. Hackley, Jr., Waverly.

Dormans, Ewings and Hackley are wintering horses at the Missouri State Fair grounds and are training them on the track there.

Much interest was expressed by the members of the MONK Circuit regarding coming to Sedalia for a racing program on the track during the fair, along with that of the Grand Circuit.

Luke Easter, former member of the Cleveland Indians, led the International League in home runs in 1956. He hit 35 for Buffalo.

Syracuse University played its first football game in 1899 against the University of Rochester.

Dr. Jordan Says—
Medical Societies Spur
Search For Arthritis Relief

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
During the past 25 years several developments have occurred which should be of vast encouragement to victims of arthritis.
The first is increased interest among medical men and others in the various diseases classified as "rheumatic." This is shown by the great growth in membership of the American Rheumatism Association.
Another important landmark is the formation of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, which for the past several years has collected substantial funds from interested donors and used them to support and encourage research and other activities related to the rheumatic disorders.

Of the rheumatic diseases, rheumatoid arthritis, which is also called chronic infectious arthritis or atrophic arthritis, is the most serious and the most puzzling. We do not yet know the exact cause or causes, nor is there any single treatment which always brings good results.

There are many extraordinary features about rheumatoid arthritis. It is more common in women than in men except for a spinal variety. There is a tendency for the disease to begin in the twenties and thirties, though it often starts later.

In some patients who are apparently heading for a long siege of the disease, the condition stops completely even without treatment. If a person with rheumatoid arthritis gets jaundice, the symptoms are greatly relieved, at least while the jaundice lasts.

In women with severe rheumatoid arthritis who become pregnant, the condition is also relieved, but almost invariably comes back in full force after the pregnancy is over.

Another queer thing about rheumatoid arthritis is that it is influenced by the mental condition. An emotional upset such as may be brought about by a quarrel or by worry is likely to make a rheumatoid arthritis which has been behaving fairly well suddenly become worse.

It is partly because of pondering these matters that cortisone and ACTH came to be tried. The discovery of these substances has certainly not answered all the questions, but working with them

Smith-Cotton News—
High School Students Win
Ratings at Speech Tourney

By Beverly Long
Last Saturday, Jan. 5, the Smith-Cotton debate team came out of the Lebanon tournament with the following ratings: Wayne Brown, first in radio; Tony Walch, second in radio; Richard Parkhurst, second in original oratory; Priscilla Scott, second in original oratory; Patty Moore, first in prose reading; Jim Rice, second in prose reading; Pat Parker, third in humorous material.

No ratings were given in debate, but Smith-Cotton won half of its debates.

The debate team also had good results in a debate last Monday, Jan. 7, with Clinton. The first team, consisting of Teddy Walch, Priscilla Scott, Judy Jiedel and LeRoy Street, won all its debates, while the second team, consisting of Floyd Evans, Barbara Elliot, has provided much new knowledge. The patients on whom they have been tried almost always have obtained immediate and practically complete relief from their symptoms. But these symptoms usually come back after medication is stopped.

The treatments for rheumatoid arthritis are many and some of them are extremely helpful. Apparently gold salts, when given under careful supervision, have been helpful to a great many. This form of treatment, however, cannot be entered on lightly because the gold salts sometimes produce undesirable effects.

The search for improved methods of treatment goes on constantly and no victim of the disease should take too dim a view of the prospects.

Jerry White and Warren Cheatum, won one of its debates. The question under debate was, resolved, "The United States Government Should Maintain 90 Per Cent of Parity on All Major Agricultural Products."

The "B" team cheerleaders have been chosen for the coming year and they are as follows: Sherry Stauffacher, Annetta Schuback, Diane Baudendistel, Janet Morris, Charlene Land and Diane Sklar.

On Wednesday, Jan. 9, the sophomore class was in charge of the assembly. It was opened with the sophomore girls' club singing two numbers, followed by a piano solo, "Stardust" by Patty Schreiner. Then a pantomime was presented by Sherry Stauffacher and Emma Kindle entitled, "Charley My Boy," and followed by a trio composed of three girls, Dorothy Chamberlin, Linda Vedder, and Patty Shriner, singing "Born to Be With You" and "Weary Blues."

An accordion solo was then presented by Lila Riene, accompanied by her brother, Albert, on the guitar. Myrna Miller and Michael Peabody gave a humorous skit entitled "Ma, He's Making Eyes at Me." They were followed by another accordion solo "Plink, Plank, Plunk" by Ronnie Carter. Beatrice Haggard gave a humorous reading, followed by Jack Clark pantomiming Elvis Presley's "Let Me," and because of popular demand, he was called back to do "We're Gonna Move." To end the program, Eugenia Lientz gave another pantomime entitled "Wild Bill Hickok" and "If You Don't Know."

The March of Dimes collection is being taken at school again this year. It will last for two weeks.

Senior Student Council was held last Monday morning before school, with Don Land presiding. The committee reports were given and the "Peanuts for Polio" drive was discussed. The members of the council will help with this drive as they have in previous years. In this drive bags of peanuts are sold at various places in town for 15 cents, from which about six or seven cents will go to the polio drive. Traffic officers were then appointed and the meeting was adjourned.

Junior Student Council was held last Tuesday after school, with Jon Waller presiding. The committee reports were given and the dance that was held last Friday night was discussed. The meeting was then adjourned.

Farm Federation
Leaders Hold Meet

CHICAGO (AP)—American Farm Bureau Federation leaders convene here today to map strategy in seeking acreage allotments on the 1957 corn crop.

Charles B. Shuman of Sullivan, Ill., president of the organization, summoned federation leaders from 11 corn-producing states to the meeting.

The meeting is expected to produce a program recommending that Congress sanction adherence to the so-called base acreage plan, rather than the more restrictive allotment program.
